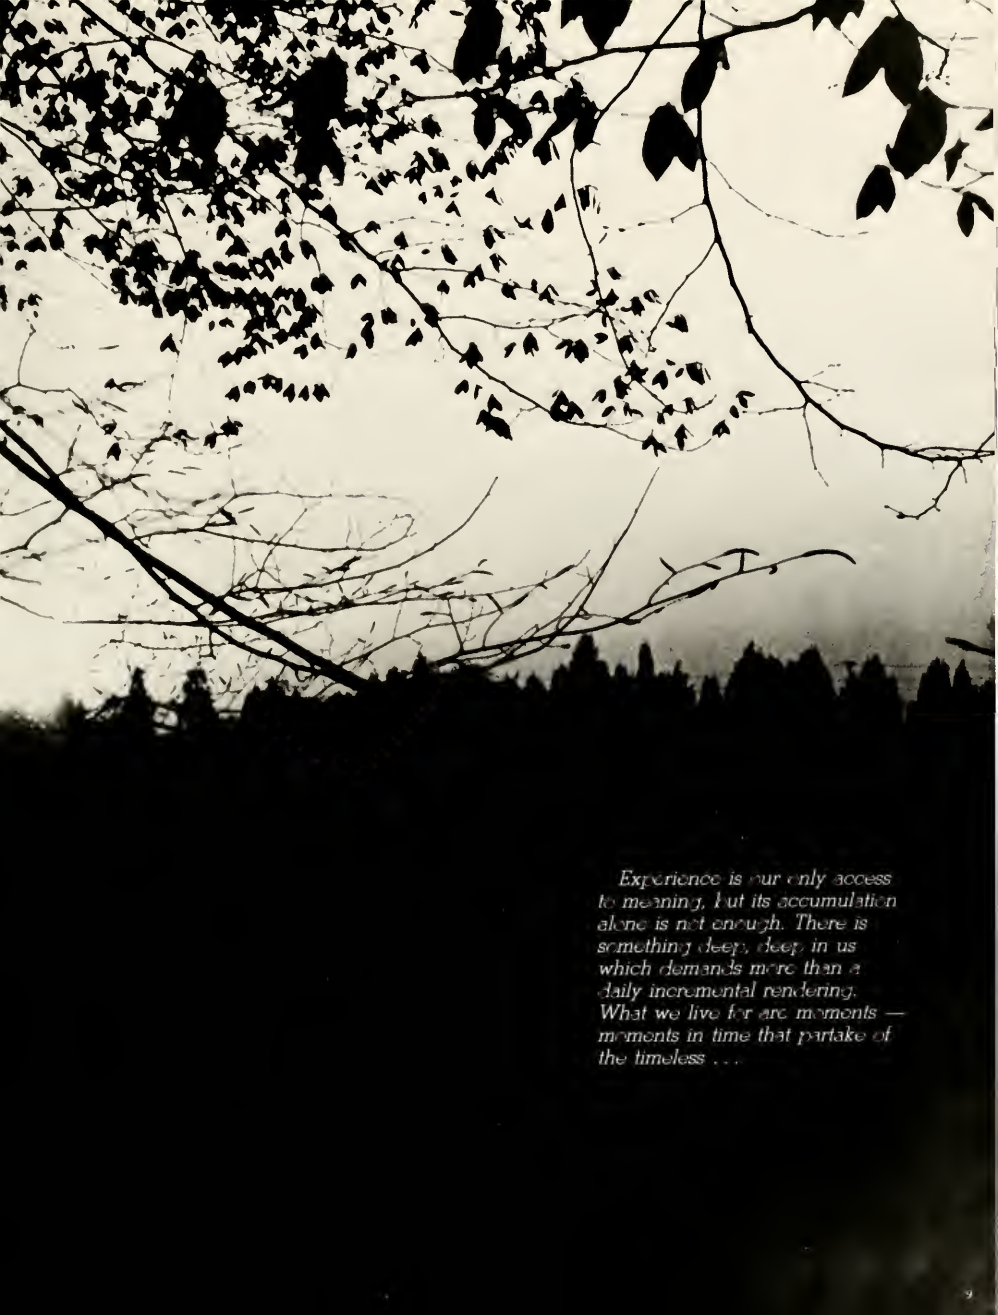
We dedicate this book to Grimsely Hobbs and William Rogers our transition from the past to the future and living models of our theme.

After fifteen years of presidential service, Grimsley Hobbs received the calling to continue on and return to teaching. Dr. Rogers left a tenured position at Harvard to join the Guilford College Community. Both men had reached what some might call success, but for them it was only a resting place. There was more to experience, higher goals to reach.

This then is life . . .



Experience is our only access to meaning, but its accumulation alone is not enough. There is something deep, deep in us which demands more than a daily incremental rendering. What we live for are moments — moments in time that partake of the timeless . . .

. . . There must be that willing quality of recognition, and creation included in our reception of the moment because we cannot sit still. Not by explicit direction but by implicit necessity, we are compelled to create light in the darkness.
(Piper '80)

May We Continue To Cherish The Moments . . .

Women's Center

I try to get lost in this land of nakedness where all is revealed and vulnerable; for all to reject.
My bare, happy feet parade independently
choosing their own path, creative and original.

The purposes of the Women's Center are to serve the needs of women on campus and to educate people in the community about women's issues and concerns. We sponsor films, speakers, discussions and coffeehouses.

Every spring we publish Womansprouts, a collection of women's writings and artwork. The Women's Center is flexible and its activities depend upon the interest of the members. Anyone who is interested is welcome to participate.*

Revelers

The school year 1979-1980 was a very good one for the Guilford Revelers. They presented high quality theatre throughout the fall and spring semesters.

The major productions of the first semester was Aldons Huxley's The Gioconda Smile — a psychological mystery-drama. Of course, later on in the fall the usual bill of one acts was produced in cooperation with the acting and directing classes.

During the spring semester the action picked up. Looking Homeward, Angel by Kettie Frings (based upon the book by Thomas Wolfe) was the mainstage show. But a production of Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? by Edward Albee was also presented, as well as Tom Abram's senior thesis show Endgame.

The Revelers participated in the Serendipity activities with a take-off of A Chorus Line renamed A Waiting List, ending the year with a bang of comedy.

A particularly talented and cooperative group made up the Revelers this year. We say farewell to a few of them, but there remains the continuous flow of techies, actors, and actresses.

"Tomorrow, tomorrow, and tomorrow
Creeps in this pretty face from day to day
To the last syllable of recorded time;
And all our yesterdays have lighted fools
The way to dusty death. Out, out, brief candle!
Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player
That struts and frets his hour upon the stage
And there is heard no more. It is a tale
Told by an idiot, full of sound and fury,
Signifying nothing."

— Shakespeare's Macbeth

Guilford College Public Interest Research Group, a chapter of the North Carolina Group (NC PIRG), is a consumer and environmental research advocacy group, funded and run by students. The main concerns of the organization are: environmental quality, consumer protection, government accountability and corporate responsiblity. At the completion of its first full year, the Guilford chapter's projects included an 84 page study, "Cancer and White Lung: The Plight of North Carolina's Asbestos Workers", an Energy Fair, March and Rally, an "Energy Education Week", which included films, slides, teachins and workshops on alternative energy sources, health and environmental concerns, and the economics of energy use.

Early in the 1980s, PIRG sponsored a press conference and lecture/slide show presented by Dr. Michio Kaku, the first anti-nuclear nuclear physicist allowed in the Three Mile Island crippled reactor. Later in the year, a forum presenting both sides of the reinstatement of draft registration attracted over 120 listeners to Boren Lounge to hear fiery exchanges between the debaters and audience. In March PIRG members were kept busy by an Energy Issue Workshop, a successful Three Mile Island Comemoration in front of the Duke Power Office and a press conference, reception and lecture (at UNC-G), featuring Ralph Nadar.

Let's not forget that three in-depth research projects were going on throughout the year: A study of Mass Transit in Greensboro, a report on the Status Offenders programs in Guilford County (as a follow-up to a bill NC PIRG sponsored in 1977) and a study of bank-lending throughout the community. All together it was a very successful year for Guilford College PIRG!

Guilfordian

The Guilfordian has come a long way in the right direction since our first issue in September. We've tried to bring the Guilford College Community its fair share of readable journalism, interesting information and current controversies. The paper has also tried to become more than just a newspaper through sponsorship of various activities, including The True Hearts concert, Oktoberfest, and the aborted Read on the Run.

Biophile

The Biophile Club is an environmental and outdoors-oriented group which strives to bring an awareness of nature to the students. We accomplish this goal through speakers and films and with camping and hiking trips.

Some of our ongoing projects include the recycling of aluminum cans, the Biophile calendar, and the maintenance of several trails and the campus lake.

Choir

Christian Fellowship

The Guilford College Christian Fellowship is a nondenominational group which comes together in the name of Jesus to share, to learn, to love each other and to worship our Lord in different ways.

B.A.S.I.B.

There is more to an education than merely book learning. At Guilford there is the opportunity to meet people of different backgrounds. BASIB offers you the opportunity to explore the Black perspective.

We have become aware that large segments of Black history are missing or are mistold in the history books. It is our goal to bring about an awareness of this default and to raise a consciousness and pride in our Black heritage. We have tried to do so through various guest speakers, forums, seminars and events. Everyone is welcome to join in this awakening.

This year, the Community Senate, comprised of students, faculty, and administrators, devised a plan for increasing WQFS from 10 watts to 1000 watts and dealt with such community concerns as the Anti-Klan March and the Hunger Project. The Senate also established the quality of Campus Life Committee through which the highly successful Serendipity Steering Committee was formed.

Union

The Student Union is a campus organization whose sole purpose is to provide the student body with entertainment activities. The Union, itself, is comprised of several individual committees responsible for concerts, dances, coffeehouses, fine art events, films, lectures, and recreational events such as ski trips. The officers, committee chairman, and committee members are composed entirely of students with the help of one faculty advisor.

Officers:
Pres. — Eric Johnson
Vice Pres. — Ed Thomas

SPORTS

Guilford's athletes and coaches enjoyed a highly successful year in sports as three teams advanced to regional and national play, an unprecedented four coaches were named "Coach of the Year", two athletes received MVP awards in the Conference and one athlete was awarded the coveted Excellence Award by the Board of Visitors. In addition a large number of Quaker athletes received All Conference and All District honors.

The golf and men's tennis teams won Conference and District Championships for the first time in Guilford's history. Both teams advanced to the National NAIA Championships with golf a strong fifth place finish and seventh place for tennis. Jay Kennedy won All America honors in golf for the second consecutive year while Bill Stephanz received honorable mention All America honors in tennis. Golf coach Jack Jensen and tennis coach Ray Alley were named Conference and District Coaches of the Year. Alley was selected along with Stephens to represent the NAIA in competition with the national tennis team of Mexico in Mexico City.

The women's tennis team finished a strong second in Conference play, tied for second in the state championship and a strong fourth in Regional AIAW play in Charleston, South Carolina.

The volleyball and soccer teams performed well against strong opposition. The volleyball team finished a close second in the Conference Tournament in which Lynn Zahurak was named MVP and Coach Gayle Currie Coach of the Year. In soccer the Quakers defeated nationally ranked N.C. State at Raleigh to highlight the year. The Quakers were runner-up for the District #26 Title.

Lacrosse amazed everyone as Tom Saunders squad posted its best record ever (9-3). The squad was led by Brian Savage who had a great year in scoring and overall play. Tom Saunders was named "Coach of the Year" in the Tri-State League for the outstanding job he did with this year's team.

The football team started out with three straight wins but met several obstacles as they ended the year 4-5. The Quakers played a tough schedule and were competitive in their games. Marty Block, recipient of the Excellence Award annually given the outstanding graduating senior, won All District honors as a kicker for Coach Charles Forbes.

The baseball team played well but missed the District #26 playoffs by less than one point. The Quakers defeated District #26 Champion Pfeiffer twice during the season as pitcher Johnny Hodges was named District Player of the Week twice. A highlight of the year for Coach Stuart Maynard was the return of so many former athletes Alumni Day. The varsity defeated the All-Stars 14-10 in a great game. The day was a special one as Ed McBane was honored by the dedication of the baseball field as McBane Field.

Softball and women's basketball continued to make progress. The softball team in its first year of varsity play finished fourth in conference play and second in the Catawba Invitational Tournament.

The men's basketball team with only two returnees from the previous year surprised everyone by winning 20 games. The season was to be a rebuilding year but Coach Jack Jensen did it again. The Quaker's defeated perennial national power Gardner-WeBb twice and Al King was voted the Conference MVP.

As Athletic Director Herb Appenzeller remarked, "Once again Guilford College can be proud of the outstanding performance of both athletes and coaches alike. They represented Guilford in great performance and truly a super year".

Guilford's lacrosse team earned such descriptions as exciting, aggressive, spirited and even amazing during the season which ended April 19 with a 13-4 win over Davidson as part of a big spring celebration in Charlotte.

Guilford victories came over Virginia Military Institute, Hampden-Sydney, Randolph-Macon, Radford, The Citadel, Emory and Henry, Lynchburg, Virginia Tech and Davidson.

An All American candidate emerged this year in the person of attackman Bryan Savage.

"Bryan, voted Most Valuable Player by his teammates, scored 51 goals, had 27 assists and had a total of 78 points, and they will rank him among the nation's best." said Coach Tommy Saunders.

"Kansas City here we come . . ."

Coach Ray Allen and the men's tennis team earned the right to make that ditty their theme song by:

— Posting a 21-6 season, a school record for tennis victories in a single year.

— Winning the Carolinas Conference championship for the first time since 1956.

— Winning the NAIA District 26 tennis championship for the first time, ever, and earning a trip to Kansas City for the national tournament.

For his guidance coach Alley was named District 26 Coach of the Year as well as Carolinas Conference Coach of the Year.

The Carolinas Conference tournament followed the expected script fairly well. Bill Stephanz of Greensboro won the No. 1 singles, Pekka Kilpio of Finland won the No. 2 and Gary Silverstein of Greensboro won the No. 6. Scott Nichols of Huntington, N.Y., and Jesus Ceron of Mexico City were runners up in their respective flights.

Kilpio and Stephanz won the No. 1 doubles title while Ceron and Howard Goodstat of Woodland Hills, Ca., took the No. 3. crown.

For their fine play, Stephanz, Kilpio, Silverstein, Ceron and Goodstat were named to the All Carolinas Conference team. Ceron, Kilpio, and Stephanz were also named All District 26.

Quaker baseball was highlighted this year by the two-time selection of Johnny Hodges of Greensboro as NAIA District 26 Player of the week. He shone in two areas — hitting and pitching — and was named Most Valuable Player by his teammates.

Barry Baliff, also of Greensboro, won the Ed McBane Top Hitter Award with a .306 batting average.

During the regular season the Quakers won 14 games while losing 11. In the Carolinas Conference single elimination tournament, the fourth-seeded Quakers dropped their first game 3-2 to fifth-seeded Pfeiffer, a team they had beat twice in regular play.

Women's Tennis Women's Tennis Women's

Tennis Coach Gayle Currie's Lady Quakers posted a 13-4 regular season, went 7-0 in Carolinas Conference play, placed second to High Point in the conference tournament, Tied for second with Davidson in the NCAIAW Division II tournament and won the right to go to the regional tournament in Charleston, S.C.

Guilford beat High Point for the first time ever, 7-2, and the only loses came at the hands of Davidson and three strong Florida teams, two of which were nationally ranked.

Meanwhile the women registered victories over Jacksonville University, East Carolina, Elon Catawbo, UNV-Charlotte, Atlantic Christian Pembroke, Wingate, High Point, Peiffer and UNCG.

Shirley Dunn of Woodbury, N.Y., No. 1 in singles, had an individual record of 16-5. She also teamed with No. 2 Sue Ireton of Westover, N.J., to win the No. 2 doubles flight in the state tournament and earn the runner-up spot in conference play.

Ireton also had a 16-5 season. She was runner-up at the No. 2 flight in the Carolinas Conference at singles and doubles.

The No. 3 Quaker, Kerry Kennedy of North Olmsted, Oh., posted a 20-3 season, during which she won her flight in the conference tournament singles and teamed with Sharon Phillips of Miami to win the No. 1 doubles title for the conference. Kerry won the No. 3 singles in the state tournament.

Phillips, playing No. 4 for Guilford, had a 20-3 season. She was runner-up in both the state and conference tournaments in No. 4 singles.

In the No. 5 spot, Peggy Schaefer of Virginia Beach was runner-up in conference play and, with Roni Rosenberg of Jacksonville placed third in Nov. 3 doubles on the state level.

Playing No. 6, Joan Murray of Greensboro was 16-6 overall and was runner-up at that spot in both the conference and state tournaments.

The Women's Softball team winds up the year by finishing fourth in Conference play and second in the Catawba Invitational Tournament. Not bad for their first year of varsity competition.

Chicago

During the week of October 12 through 21, eleven Guilford students embarked on a fall break seminar to Chicago. The Seminar, entitled "Methods and Patterns of Effective Interfacing in a Metrololitan Setting," was coordinated by Dr. James Gripper, assistant to the Dean of students, and Dr. Tendai Mutunhu, professor of intercultural studies.

The group met with Rev. Jessee Jackson, visited the DuSable Museum of African-American History, had session with Mayor Hatcher of Gary, Ind., visited the Institute of Positive Education and Third World Press, visited Malcolm X College, and toured the Johnson Publishing Company.

LIFE

Sweet lunacy dripping from the night skies edge Dripping like honey from the moons white eye
Saturation of the uncertain image incarnate in these two stars
Inundation of the wavelike motion within this static reflection

ALUMNI DAY 1980

Alumni Day 1980 was, in the opinion of many, the best within recent memory. It was, as described by one observer, "a day of grand variety."

It was not just a day of awards and reunions. After Ed McBane was honored by the dedication of the baseball field as McBane field, a rousing game was played between the Guilford Varsity and the (alumni) All Stars. Tennis buffs took pride in varsity victories over Cornell (Iowa) and Pembroke State and lacrosse followers felt likewise after the Quakers wipped The Citadel.

The sports excitement was balanced by a day long crafts fair, mountain cloggers, Guilford folk dancers, and the headliner of the day, folk singer Jean Ritchie.

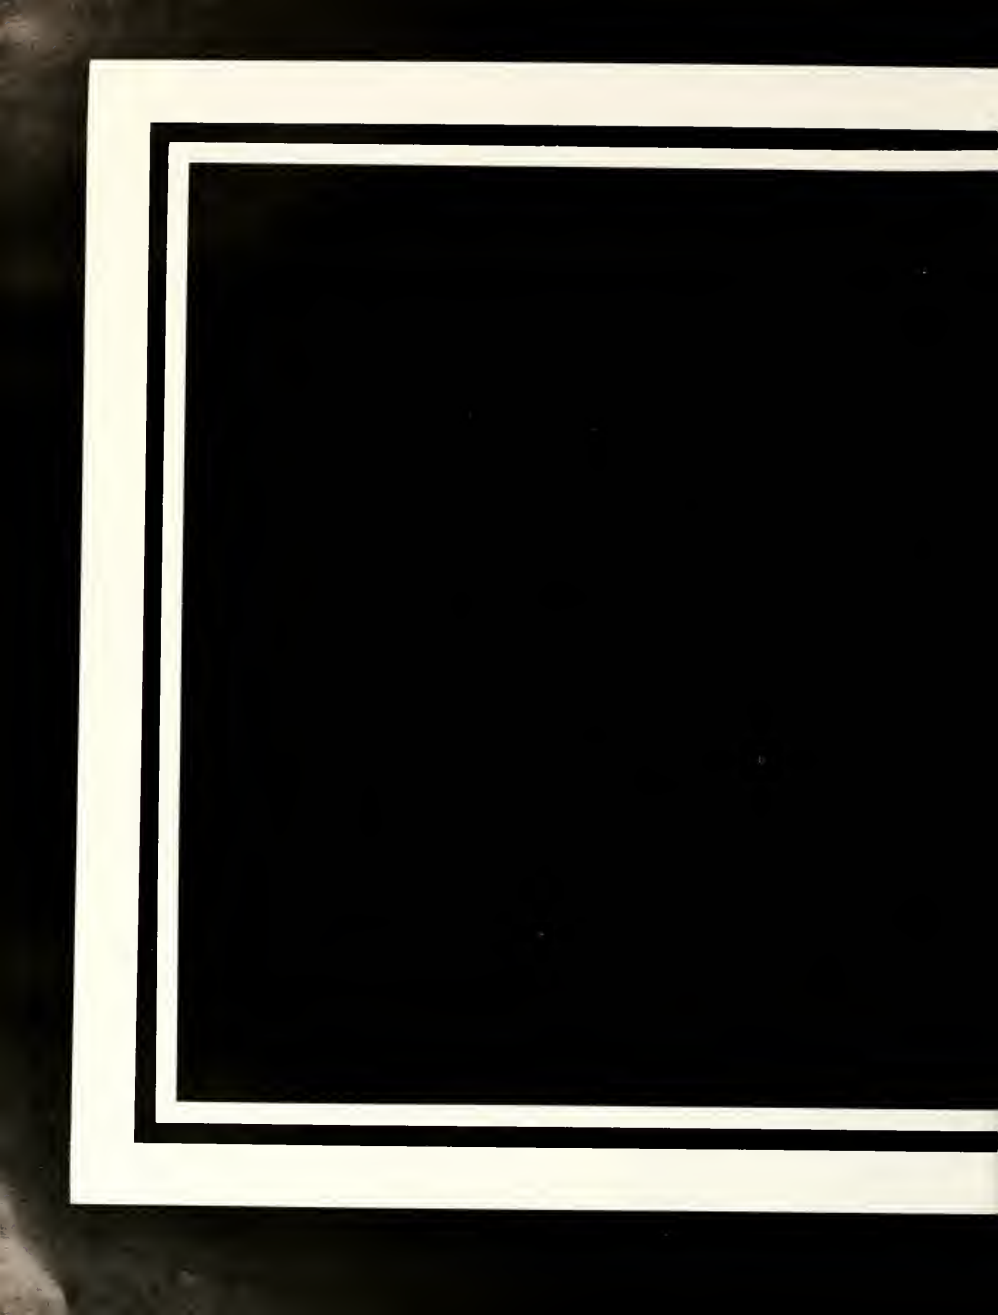
Happiness Is:



GRADUATION

I have walked among the oaks,
Watched the growing dusk
Hang across the limbs in weariness,
Watched the roots and limbs . . .
I tread the silent-frosted ground
And know the journey looms much closer
A darker ocean you and I must cross
And dare to speak within the wilderness
Where all beginnings are conceived.

I would like to thank the Quaker staff for taking time out of their busy schedules to help compile this book. It took a lot of work and hopefully we have captured the moments of 1980 that you wish to remember. Of course you may not find everything here, for it was truly a unique year and impossible to capture totally within these covers.

I would like to send special thanks to the Alumni Bulletin staff for their write-ups and photographs which saved us from possible disaster, to Alison Stenlake for her endless hours of dedication and push, and to all those who weren't on staff but offered and contributed their time and expertise. It wasn't easy but we made it.

Good luck in the future
